News From the Hill

News From the Hill: December 13, 2018

Lawmakers are running out of time to reach agreement with the White House over a path forward for the seven unfinished spending bills for Fiscal Year (FY) 2019. Work has largely been completed on the appropriations measures with the only remaining hurdle the resolution of a request for $5 billion of new funding for border wall construction from the administration.

Programs supported by the seven outstanding spending bills (EPA, State Department, Homeland Security, etc.) are currently operating with level-funding under a Continuing Resolution (CR) that is set to expire on December 21st.
